

How to use

Try these techniques to maximise make revision more efficient:

- Read a card and then have a friend or family member to test you on it
- Create a piece of writing using the words of a particular card(s).
- Stick the card(s) you are revising, somewhere you will see them every day, such as above your desk.

Games

Involve your friends and family to play the following games. You can play with two or more players.

1. Divide the group of friends or family into teams. Print, cut, fold and put the suggested chits below in a box/jar. First person/team draws out a chit and follows the instruction. Keep passing the jar around and take turns to play. You can also play it with music like “pass the parcel”.
2. Make the above game more challenging by adding a rule that all the subsequent sentences must correlate to form a story. The last player may decide to end the story using one of the ‘story ending’ strategies as explained in card number 125, 126.

Suggested chits for the game:

- Use an onomatopoeia to begin your sentence. (Refer card 22)
- Your sentence must have a conversation between two friends.
- Introduce/describe a desert in your sentence. (Refer card 45)
- Introduce/describe a beach in your sentence. (Refer card 44)
- Introduce/describe a forest in your sentence. (Refer card 106)
- Introduce/describe an island in your sentence. (Refer card 117)
- Your sentence should describe a character. (Refer cards 65-84)
- Use Alliteration in your sentence. (Refer card number 23)
- Use a simile or a metaphor in your sentence. (Refer card number 18, 19)
- Introduce an astronaut in your sentence.
- Introduce an Alien and his habitat in your sentence.

- Use a key phrase from cards 223 to 224 in your sentence.
- Use at least two words from cards 205 to 222 in your sentence.
- Use at least three words from cards 205 to 222 in your sentence.
- Introduce a problem or a conflict. (Refer cards 121-124)
- Use Oxymoron in your sentence. (Refer card number 23)

Discuss/Write on the following topics with friends and family:

1. Global warming: A fact or a myth?
2. Are video games too violent for children?
3. Too much money is a bad thing?
4. Are school tests effective?
5. Explore space – Will benefits outweigh the costs?

Refer cards 177 to 187 for techniques. Research your topic to find relevant evidence.

If you have any questions or comments, please write to us at info@ejoycation.co.uk.

TEST 1

1. Read the passage carefully. Fill in the missing words selecting words from the answers listed above the passage which you feel best fills in the blank space.

obstinate	trivial	sincerely	conceited	exhilaration
eccentric	din	coax	ordeal	disarray
aggravated	disrupted	cruising	quandary

Ash and her mother were ____ down the street in their car. It was Saturday morning and there wasn't much traffic which was something to be happy about. However, Ash was having a tough time bearing the ____ of having to visit her mother's alma mater. Something ____ as the baby sitter's unexpected day off had thrown her Saturday plans into _____. The Saturday which was to be spent fooling the old Mrs. Graves into letting her watch T.V. and eating crisps fell into _____ when Mrs. Graves called into tell that she had slipped in her bathroom and sprained her leg. Ash tried really hard to ____ her mother into letting her stay home but no avail. What _____ the matters, in her opinion, was the fact that her brother, older than her by a mere two years had been allowed to visit his friends. And he had declined to take her along saying that she would be a _____. "That _____ fellow!" she thought angrily. Her plans of getting back at her brother were _____ once the car entered the hallowed grounds of the college. As she heard the _____ Ash glanced towards her mother's face and found her in a state of _____. Feeling guilty for her _____ behavior in the morning, she flashed a nervous smile towards her mother promising _____ to be on her best behavior on the visit.

2. Find the three missing letters that need to be added to these words so that the sentence makes sense. The three letters do not have to make a word.

1. The knowledgeable guide was an expert in pala - - - tology gave us an informative tour of the museum.
2. We learnt about the flora and f- - - a of the Jurassic period.
3. Ex- - - ction of dinosaurs was caused by the impact of a massive comet.
4. We went on a school exc- - - ion to a Science Museum.
5. The rowdy and impu- - - t class knew no boundaries.

3. Write the four-letter word hidden at the end of one word and beginning of the next word. The letters are not allowed to be rearranged.

Example She looked beautiful in the red dress. (here)

1. He was the best emperor that had ever ruled them.
2. She likes to exercise at the school gym.
3. We really appreciate the hard work put in by our teachers.
4. Half of our class scored a hundred percent in the test.
5. Her intense glares transpired a confession.

4. Find the two words that are closest in meaning. Underline both the words.

1. arduous, substantial, easy, difficult, peril
2. dilemma, dimension, decrease, predicament
3. occasionally, frequently, rarely, irregularly
4. timid, threat, afraid, rigid, brave
5. humble, human, moral, truthful, modest

TEST 2

- 1. Read the passage carefully. Fill in the missing words selecting words from the answers listed above the passage which you feel best fills in the blank space.

fatigued	curious	demolish	repenting
clemency	feign	embrace	credulous
eased	sharply

Sarah ___ the car into the parking lot. Cutting off the engine she exhaled ___. She was already ___ by all the morning rush and the numerous household chores. She was in half a mind to call pick up her cellphone and ___ illness to skip the alumni meet. However, with her daughter Ash sitting beside her and looking at her with a mix of ___ and nervous look on her face, Sarah couldn't do that. Eight-year old are ___ by nature and Sarah didn't want to anything to ___ her daughter's faith in her. Looking at Ash, she realized that her daughter was ___ her earlier behavior. Sarah took her in her ___ calming her down and deciding that the visit would do both them good. On the other hand, having been granted ___ by her mom, Ash looked forward to enjoy every bit of the afternoon.

- 2. Find the three missing letters that need to be added to these words so that the sentence makes sense. The three letters do not have to make a word.

1. The st- - - magician baffled us all with his un- - -homable tricks.
2. Although the climb was pre- - -ious, the resolute climbers reached the summit.
3. The plants on the banks of river Nile flourished and yi- - -ed good crops.
4. She lived in a humble ab- - - in next to the river.
5. Her n- - -le dance moves charmed the audience.

- 3. Write the four-letter word hidden at the end of one word and beginning of the next word. The letters are not allowed to be rearranged.

Example She looked beautiful in the red dress. (here)

1. He was often the most popular in all the parties.
2. Meg rides her bike very fast.
3. The timid old cat hid under the table.
4. Jack needed more bricks for his house.
5. The royal soldiers were very obedient.

- 4. Find the two words that are closest in meaning. Underline both the words.

1. accommodate, appoint, house, accumulate
2. courageous, flexible, timid, valiant, conscious
3. exhausted, allocate, extinct, motive, purpose
4. confident, ornate, elaborate, modest, originate
5. apathy, apathetic, humour, committed, uninterested

TEST 3

- 1. Read the passage carefully. Fill in the missing words selecting words from the answers listed above the passage which you feel best fills in the blank space.

chaotic	endure	grotesque	errands
candid	besiege	economical	frivolous simpler	posing

Weddings are torturous affairs to _____. All the preparations, the rituals, the people and the ___ to run make the whole event utterly _____. In the good old days weddings were ___ and more ___ affairs. Today you have the ___ expenses of setting up photo-booths and more such things. In the past, people would the photographer with requests for photographs. Today they can click as many of the so-called pictures with their cellphones and selfie sticks. In olden days people had ___ conversations. And don't even get me started on the ___ faces these youngsters make in the name of ___ for the pictures- the fish face and the duck face and what not. I wonder what we will have next.

- 2. Find the three missing letters that need to be added to these words so that the sentence makes sense. The three letters do not have to make a word.

1. The oppressed citizens turned bellig- -nt against the government.
2. She was exp- -ed from school due to bad behaviour.
3. The impressed audience cheered with f- -our.
4. The police had to take strong measures to subdue the tem- -tuous outburst on the streets.
5. My teacher's knowledge of the subject is un- - -passed.

- 3. Write the four-letter word hidden at the end of one word and beginning of the next word. The letters are not allowed to be rearranged.

Example She looked beautiful in the red dress. (here)

1. Her dress was the talk of the party.
2. The fifth empty container was broken.
3. The tiffin exceeded our expectations.
4. The attitude of some people is exemplary.
5. The people acted on the behalf of the society.

- 4. Find the two words that are closest in meaning. Underline both the words.

1. affluence, bounty, absurd, abandon, poverty
2. silence, din, abhor, racket, harmony
3. conspire, scan, contempt, plot, squander
4. timid, deceit, honest, treachery, accident
5. impulsive, inane, moral, truthful, frivolous

ANSWERS 1

1.

Ash and her mother were cruising down the street in their car. It was Saturday morning and there wasn't much traffic which was something to be happy about. However, Ash was having a tough time bearing the ordeal of having to visit her mother's alma mater. Something trivial as the baby sitter's unexpected day off had thrown her Saturday plans into quandary. The Saturday which was to be spent fooling the eccentric old Mrs. Graves into letting her watch T.V. and eating crisps fell into disarray when Mrs. Graves called into tell that she had slipped in her bathroom and sprained her leg. Ash tried really hard to coax her mother into letting her stay home but no avail. What aggravated the matters, in her opinion, was the fact that her brother, older than her by a mere two years had been allowed to visit his friends. And he had declined to take her along saying that she would be a nuisance. "That conceited fellow!" she thought angrily. Her plans of getting back at her brother were disrupted once the car entered the hallowed grounds of the college. As she heard the din, Ash glanced towards her mother's face and found her in a state of exhilaration. Feeling guilty for her obstinate behavior in the morning, she flashed a nervous smile towards her mother promising sincerely to be on her best behavior on the visit.

2.

1. The knowledgeable guide was an expert in palaeontology gave us an informative tour of the museum.
2. We learnt about the flora and fauna of the Jurassic period.
3. Extinction of dinosaurs was caused by the impact of a massive comet.
4. We went on a school excursion to a Science Museum.
5. The rowdy and impudent class knew no boundaries.

3.

1. He was the best emperor that had ever ruled them. (stem)
2. She likes to exercise at the school gym. (seat)
3. We really appreciate the hard work put in by our teachers. (were)
4. Half of our class scored a hundred percent in the test. (four)
5. Her intense glares transpired a confession. (rest)

4.

1. arduous, substantial, easy, difficult, peril
2. dilemma, dimension, decrease, predicament
3. occasionally, frequently, rarely, irregularly
4. timid, threat, afraid, rigid, brave
5. humble, human, moral, truthful, modest

ANSWERS 2

1.

Sarah eased the car into the parking lot. Cutting off the engine she exhaled sharply. She was already fatigued by all the morning rush and the numerous household chores. She was in half a mind to call pick up her cellphone and feign illness to skip the alumni meet. However, with her daughter Ash sitting beside her and looking at her with a mix of curious and nervous look on her face, Sarah couldn't do that. Eight-year old are credulous by nature and Sarah didn't want to anything to demolish her daughter's faith in her. Looking at Ash, she realized that her daughter was repenting her earlier behavior. Sarah took her in her embrace calming her down and deciding that the visit would do both them good. On the other hand, having been granted clemency by her mom, Ash looked forward to enjoy every bit of the afternoon.

2.

1. The stout magician baffled us all with his unfathomable tricks.
2. Although the climb was precarious, the resolute climbers reached the summit.
3. The plants on the banks of river Nile flourished and yielded good crops.
4. She lived in a humble abode in next to the river.
5. Her nimble dance moves charmed the audience.

3.

1. He was often the most popular in all the parties. (soft)
2. Meg rides her bike very fast. (grid)
3. The timid old cat hid under the table. (idol)
4. Jack needed more bricks for his house. (knee)
5. The royal soldiers were very obedient. (also)

4.

1. accommodate, appoint, house, accumulate
2. courageous, flexible, timid, valiant, conscious
3. exhausted, allocate, extinct, motive, purpose
4. confident, ornate, elaborate, modest, originate
5. apathy, apathetic, humour, committed, uninterested

ANSWERS 3

1.

Weddings are torturous affairs to endure. All the preparations, the rituals, the people and the errands to run make the whole event utterly chaotic. In the good old days weddings were simpler and more economical affairs. Today you have the frivolous expenses of setting up photo-booths and more such things. In the past, people would besiege the photographer with requests for photographs. Today they can click as many of the so-called candid pictures with their cellphones and selfie sticks. In olden days people had candid conversations. And don't even get me started on the grotesque faces these youngsters make in the name of posing for the pictures- the fish face and the duck face and what not. I wonder what we will have next.

2. Find the three missing letters that need to be added to these words so that the sentence makes sense. The three letters do not have to make a word.

1. The oppressed citizens turned belligerent against the government.
2. She was expelled from school due to bad behaviour.
3. The impressed audience cheered with fervour.
4. The police had to take strong measures to subdue the tempestuous outburst on the streets.
5. My teacher's knowledge of the subject is unparalleled.

3.

1. Her dress was the talk of the party. (herd)
2. The fifth empty container was broken. (them)
3. The tiffin exceeded our expectations. (fine)
4. The attitude of some people is exemplary. (heat)
5. The people acted on the behalf of the society. (plea)

4.

1. affluence, bounty, absurd, abandon, poverty
2. silence, din, abhor, racket, harmony
3. conspire, scan, contempt, plot, squander
4. timid, deceit, honest, treachery, accident
5. impulsive, inane, moral, truthful, frivolous